

Telsec Toronto Executive Offices Go Green

Environmentally friendly Telsec Toronto office suites conserve energy, resources

Toronto, Canada (MarketWire) August 5, 2008 – Telsec, a leading provider of Toronto executive offices, office space and virtual offices, announced today they have joined the “green” movement and taken steps to make its Toronto offices for rent more environmentally friendly by conserving energy and reducing dependence on valuable resources such as electricity and water.

“In our Toronto eco friendly offices, all resources, including energy and water are prudently managed. To do this we have made some big changes,” said Brian Miles, owner of Telsec. “The first step we took was to replace our old 35 watt T-12 high output fluorescent lamps with more energy efficient 28 watt T-8 low energy fluorescent lights, without compromising brightness. Just this step alone significantly reduced our energy consumption.”

Telsec took further steps to create an environmentally friendly green building by optimizing lighting usage with a computerized system that detects when lights are not needed and shuts them off to conserve even more energy. Environmentally conscious designers installed new automatic, self-powered faucets in the washrooms that allow just the right amount of water flow. A turbine within the touchless faucet recharges the battery that runs the electronics thereby saving energy and water simultaneously.

“Not only are our Toronto office spaces green, but our virtual office services are eco friendly too, helping to cut down on commuting, unnecessary space and more,” said Miles.

Telsec provides executive offices, virtual offices (mail service and/or telephone answering), furnished offices, Toronto office space, meeting rooms, training rooms and more to allow business owners to concentrate on their companies 100% while Telsec takes care of the rest.
