

Toronto Office Space from Telsec Helps More Companies During Uncertain Economy

Toronto, Canada (MarketWire) June 2, 2009 – In an uncertain economy, most companies prefer not to sign a long term lease or agreement on office space. With month-to-month rentals available from Telsec, a leading provider of Toronto office space, Toronto virtual offices and executive offices, small and large companies alike are finding immediate business expense savings.

“A Toronto office space lease or rental from Telsec Office Business Centres requires no capital or long term rental contracts, allowing businesses to operate without a prohibitive office lease that can cut off much needed funds during this economy,” said Brian Miles, owner of Telsec. “Everything is already included in the cost of renting at Telsec, including utilities and operations, so all of your office space expenses are tax deductible.”

A Toronto office space with less add-on expenses allows companies to focus on growing their business and not on the little extras. Telsec’s Toronto office space for rent offers peace of mind in knowing that everything is taken care of and handled professionally. A telephone receptionist and mail handling are included in the rental cost at Telsec with the added bonus of a la carte services like photocopying, so companies only pay for what they use.

“Don’t choose just any office space in Toronto for rent,” said Miles. “When your organization needs office space that works for you in Toronto, join the many companies who call Telsec Toronto office space “My Toronto office.””

Telsec provides executive offices, virtual offices (mail service and/or telephone answering), furnished offices, Toronto office space, meeting rooms and more to allow business owners to concentrate on their companies 100% while Telsec takes care of the rest.
